

Buehler celebrates 100 years of Wilson® Hardness

THE ENGINEER

Measurement

Product of the week

FLIR Launch Smart Thermal Sensor Solution for Industrial Monitoring

Providing radiometric thermal monitoring for a wide range of industries including manufacturing, product development, public utilities, waste management and facilities maintenance. Advanced Smart Sensor configuration can be used as part of an elevated skin temperature screening process. Find out more

Editor's choice

Buehler celebrates 100 years of Wilson® Hardness

In 2020, we celebrate the Wilson hardness legacy and recommit to engineer and manufacture the most advanced hardness testing. Find out more

LATEST PRODUCTS

More products >

- FULLY INTEGRATED PROXIMITY PROBES
- Hastelloy C Flowmeters for Hazardous Areas
- Visualizing Hydrocarbon Gases Helps Minimize Venting to the Atmosphere
- Fluke T6 Non-contact Voltage Tester Kit offers savings for a limited period
- ACCURATE & CONSISTENT LEVEL DETECTION REGARDLESS OF MEDIA

SUPPLIER OF THE WEEK

APPLIED MEASUREMENTS LTD.

Applied Measurements

Applied Measurements offers a comprehensive range of loadcells, force sensors, weighing systems, pressure sensors, torque transducers, LVDTs and displacement transducers along with associated instrumentation.

CATEGORY SPONSORS

Metrology Systems

Sponsored by
Renishaw

Thermal Imaging

Sponsored by
Flir

Buehler celebrates 100 years of Wilson® Hardness

THE ENGINEER

The Engineer is part of Mark Allen Engineering Limited, part of the Mark Allen Group. Registered in England and Wales with number 11569365. Registered office at St Jude's Church, Dulwich Road, London, SE24 0PB, United Kingdom. Copyright © 2020 Mark Allen Group and / or its subsidiaries and licensors. All rights reserved.

Tel: 020 7292 3705 or email: customerservices@theengineer.co.uk